Black Rock Robust Collection

?Genuine leather cover with anti-shock edges with new device protection concept to avoid unpleasant breakages on your new phone. A newly developed polymer that combines excellent cushioning characteristics with protective properties. Its molecular structure is made up of elastic and rigid components that allow perfect compression and reduction of the impact energy. At the same time, it builds a rigid screen that derives its impact through its structure and, ultimately, protects the phone from damage. Two innovative and high quality components mixed for the best protection features. Custom-made protective air chambers inside the architectural case to effectively cushion the impact even by discharging energy around the edge. Protective non-slip grip on the outside. Enlarged protection zone for optimal impact. Active Air technology designed in Germany developed and used to absorb impact energy.
